JEALOUSY AND BOOZE MINGLE IN GRIM TRAGEDY

Man Had Visited U. S. Marshal Yesterday to Have Spouse Arrested

Manuel Gomes, Portuguese, killed his wife, Josepha, Hawaiian, and then himself about 8:30 this morning at the residence on Hualala lane of Mrs. Margaret S. Andrade, the wife's sister. He used a newly purchased pocketknife and death came almost instantly.

Mrs. Andrade was an eye-witness to most of the tragedy and would have been killed had she not run frantically from the house with her four children and called the police.

The victims were hurried in the emergency hospital ambulance to the Queen's Hospital, but both died before arrival there.

Gomes was an engineer for the Pioneer Mill Company of Lahaina, Maui, and married Josepha about seven years ago at Wailuku, Maui. A baby boy and a year-old girl living with relatives in Maui survive.

It was the old story of jealousy. The wife and husband quarreled at the Andrade home this morning and in a drunken rage the man threw the woman on the floor, nearly severed her head from her body and followed quickly with the fatal thrust in his own throat.

Mrs. Andrade says she tried to stop him after he had killed her sister, but he shouted, "You'll get it, too," and lunged for her as she fled.

After seeing two lives snuffed out suddenly, Mrs. Andrade told her story calmly this morning and remarkably straight. She knew nothing about the funeral arrangements and said pitifully to a reporter, as she sat in tears, "Please will you tell them through your paper that I haven't any money to make funerals? I'm very poor. Will the county people help me?"

The sister came to Honolulu from the Lahaina home in Maui about a month ago, following some trouble with her husband, and made her home with Mr. Andrade and Mrs. Andrade, says the latter. Saturday Gomes arrived in the Likiep and "made up" with his wife. Yesterday he borrowed passage money from Mrs. Andrade, she says, and left on the Claudine. His wife kissed him goodbye at the wharf and apparently the best of feelings existed.

This morning Mrs. Andrade saw her sister running down the street, and to her amazement the husband was following her. Gomes explained that he jumped overboard after the Claudine had put out to sea and swam back to shore. How far he swam, he didn't say, but the last the wife saw of him he was on the Claudine's decks.

Gomes had stopped at a store to buy something, which later proved to be the pocketknife that was found sticking in his throat when the police came. The wife said he started a heated argument on the front porch.

DETAILS OF ROW IN PRISON CAMP SHOW DEEP PLOT

Ferguson, Lyons and Monroe Ringleaders in Plan to "Get" Billy Woods

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence). HILLO, June 26.—Held at the point of a revolver in the hands of Warder Billy Woods and threatened with being drilled with lead if he attempted to use a rifle that was in his possession, F. J. Lyons, a man who is serving a long sentence for second degree murder, was forced to surrender and give up without a struggle on Saturday evening last at the Waimea prison camp.

Lyons is the man who was found guilty of second degree murder in the case of the Iwilei butchering of a Japanese hack driver a year or so ago.

Before he was taken by Woods on Saturday evening Lyons shot twice and badly wounded a Porto Rican prisoner who was employed as a baker at the prison camp. The Porto Rican was shot through the left arm and also through the left side just beneath the heart. An inch higher and it would have been murder.

H. F. Ferguson, the man who shot dead Police Officer Abreu on the windward side of Oahu three years ago, was in the affair also. He and another white man, Monroe, who is in jail for burglary, are now accused of being in a conspiracy to murder Billy Woods. Still another prisoner, Ringleader, who killed his wife in a telephone office at Honolulu two or three years ago, is suspected of being in the conspiracy to do up Woods.

It all happened on Saturday evening last at Waimea. Woods was at Deputy Sheriff Lindsay's house for dinner and the camp was in charge of Deputy Warder Parker. As usual Woods rang up the camp to find out how things were. A prisoner named Dailey answered the phone and he declared that all was well at the camp. His voice sounded most peculiar to Woods at the other end of the line and he repeated the question as

Because a postal card signed "Lieut. Pepin" was in the pocket of an army officer found on the sidewalk in front of Beth's cafe, Ellis street, San Francisco, with a fractured skull, early on the morning of June 20, the Examiner of that date printed a story that the man was Lieut. Louis D. Pepin of this city. Such is not the case. The injured man is the brother of 1st Lieut. Louis D. Pepin, 55th Company, C. A. C., of Fort De Russy, Lieut. Pepin's brother is a lieutenant in the Philippine Scouts. He came here on the June transport from Manila, and left for San Francisco June 14 on the Wilhelmina. 1st Lieut. 'PICTURE-BRIDE' STOLEN, REPORT AT U. S. STATION

Immigration Officials Hear Story and Inspector Halsey is Investigating

How a Japanese picture-bride was stolen from the United States immigration station last Saturday by a countryman who posed falsely as her intended husband is a story which is stirring the Japanese community.

Inspector R. L. Halsey, in charge of the immigration station, when questioned by the Star-Bulletin this morning, said:

"I have heard the reports of this around here but I don't know the facts," he said. He is investigating the reports.

The story which is told among the Japanese with circumstantial detail is that the girl, a 19-year-old Japanese of the Okinawan race, arrived on the Shinyo Maru from Japan on June 19 and as usual went to the immigration station, where the "picture-brides" are detained until claimed by their husbands-to-be. The girl's name is given as Ushi Ishihara. Her intended husband is said to be one Shoden Ishikawa of Kekaha Plantation, Kauai.

According to the story told by Japanese, and which has also been heard at the Japanese consulate, Ishikawa was unable to come from Kauai at once to claim his bride on account of there being no immediate steamer facilities, though he had received wireless word that the bride was waiting.

It appears that the news that a beautiful picture-bride was at the station waiting for a husband, was circulated in the Japanese community, and one G. Toyama, a plantation laborer at Heia, learned of it and concocted the plan to steal the girl, if she should prove, on personal inspection, to be as good-looking as reports represented. Accordingly, it is said, he went to the immigration station, saw the girl, was satisfied and hurried to a Japanese hotel on Boretania street, where he registered as Shoden Ishikawa of Iehihara of Kekaha, Kauai.

He is understood to have told the hotel manager he was here from Kauai to receive his picture-bride who came on the Shinyo, and on this representation, it is said, the hotel manager went with him to the immigration officials to be his witness in claiming the girl.

Toyama is said to have been examined by the immigration authorities and to have passed this examination, upon which he was allowed to take the girl from the station. He is said to have taken her to the same hotel where he had registered and to have remained until Monday morning. Expecting that the bona fide husband-to-be would arrive from Kauai yesterday, it is said Toyama left the hotel early and went back to Heia with the bride.

The Kauai man, arriving early in the morning, went to another hotel and asked the manager there to accompany him to the station and help get the bride he had brought from Japan. When the unlucky man reached the station and was told that some one else had taken his bride, he was torn with rage and despair, summoned his friends, and after inquiry found that Toyama had gone to Heia. It is said they went to Heia and brought back the girl, but what happened to Toyama no one seems to know, though the Japanese community has heard there is going to be some trouble.

Consul Mori was absent from the consulate this morning when telephone inquiry was made. One of the consular staff said that the news of the abduction had reached the consulate but they were not in possession of the facts. Whether the consul would investigate he could not say, nor could he confirm the report that the disappointed Ishikawa had asked the consulate to take the matter up.

BREAK IN RELATIONS MAY BE FORCED DURING NEXT 2 DAYS

Trains Loaded With Guardsmen Sweep Southward From Many States—Bisbee, Arizona, Menaced By Raiders and 22nd Infantry Rushed For Reinforcements—Carranza Unyielding on Release of Captives

(Associated Press Service by Federal Wireless). COLUMBUS, Mex., William Parker and his wife, owners of a ranch 35 miles southwest of Hachita, have been murdered, presumably by Mexican bandits. Their bodies were found to-day and it is believed they were killed some time in the morning, according to information which has reached relatives here. American cavalry is pursuing the bandits and will cross the border if necessary.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27.—Counsellor Polk of the state department today declined flatly to discuss the matter of mediation with Charles Douglas, former counsel for Carranza, who called today saying that he was authorized from Mexico City to state that Carranza would agree to mediation, with the military status quo maintained while the mediation was in progress.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 27.—A break with Mexico by Thursday at the latest, and possibly tomorrow, is now the prospect.

Though the delay is irksome in some quarters, every hour hostilities are postponed is helping the U. S. plan of campaign. It is enabling the American commanders to get the state troops to the border and so dispose the national guardsmen as to allow the regulars the fullest mobility.

Officials in high circles express the belief today that the president will wait until Thursday at the latest for the release of the 10th Cavalrymen who are held in jail by the Mexicans, supposed at Chihuahua. Possibly the president will demand decisive action tomorrow.

There will be no move of actual aggression until a substantial force is available at the command of General Funston. This delay in the breach of relations is favorable because it betters the position of the troops to take swift and effective action. It also allows more time for the American civilians to get out of Mexico and for other foreigners to flee who are afraid that in case of war between the two nations their lives or property will be imperilled.

Advices to the war department from Gen. Funston today indicate that trains loaded with state troops are sweeping southward from all points toward the Mexican border.

Under the war department orders, the various state commands are reporting direct to Funston when they are ready to move. He then sends instructions as to the point where they are to detain, and then informs the war department as to their disposition.

U. S. Embargo Already Felt in Mexican Towns Across The Line

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 27.—The embargo placed on the exportation of virtually every commercial article across the Mexican border from the United States has already affected the Mexican towns near the line. At Nuevo Laredo, across the river from Laredo, Texas, the Mexican troops have moved because of lack of forage for their horses.

Troops Entrench at Naco: Rumor of Raid on Bisbee, Ariz., Heard

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 27.—Today the American troops are completing entrenchments thrown up at Naco, according to advices received by General Funston, and are facing 1500 Mexican troops just across the river. Here there is a possibility of battle the moment hostilities are declared.

Information has reached General Funston's headquarters that the Mexicans have planned to sweep across the line into Bisbee, Arizona, and raid the copper smelting concerns around Bisbee, as well as the stores and other establishments.

Because of this disquieting report, Gen. Funston today ordered the 22nd Infantry rushed from Douglas to reinforce the rather slim number of troops guarding the line near Bisbee.

More U. S. Troopers Captured by Mexicans, Probably 10th Refugees

EL PASO, Tex., June 27.—Two negro troopers captured by the Mexicans at Guzman were brought into Juarez today and lodged in the Mexican jail there. They were ragged and half-dead from hardship. It is believed that they are survivors of the 10th Cavalry troops which were shattered at Carrizal, and that they were separated from the other refugees.

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 27.—Thirty-five thousand national guardsmen, representing the organizations of 12 states, in the department of the east, are now entraining or are already en route for the Mexican border.

It is expected that all those mobilized and ordered to the border will be on troop trains by this evening.
